LONDON, March 9.
LOT'S and intrigues
failed to save King Milan. The jubilation feeling among the abdication has not only not yet subsided
in Belgrade, but is spreading throughout Serbia. No one who has not traveled through Serbia within the last two years can estimate the measure of detestation to which Milan was held by the masses, and consequently the secret joy at his virtual overthrow cannot be concealed. The fact that it would be as impossible for him to return to the throne, except by the force of some great power, as it would be for him to usurp the throne of Austria or Russia, is growing plainer every day, and in spite of his retention of the chief command of the Serbian army his military power and prestige is fast fading into nothingness. Since King Milan was ignomiously threatened by Prince Alexander of Bulgaria his influence over the army, except that which he exercised as sovereign, has steadily declined until he has finally become the laughing stock of an army which, though small in numbers, is too brave to be led by a puppet. It is predicted in the continental capitals and here as well that although Milan is recognized as the commander-in-chief of the Serbian army, he will never be permitted to lead the Serbian soldiers into battle, and indeed, it is well understood that it would be safe for him to do so. Four-fifths of the Serbian soldiery are pro-Russian and not one of them has forgotten the outrageous treatment which Milan visited upon his wife, a Russian lady.

THE ATTEMPT TO WIN THE RADICALS.
The radical party in Serbia under the leadership of MM. Grulich and Ristic, are in favor of drawing closer to Russia and were warm supporters of Queen Natalie through all her troubles with her husband. To win them over King Milan undertook the revision of the constitution. Many important changes were effected in the constitution. Individual liberty and freedom of the press were guaranteed; all religious sects were placed on a footing of equality; the suffrage was extended to all men paying 15 francs a year in taxes, and all classes of the community were made eligible for election as deputies, only a fourth of the Chamber to consist of ex-officio members.
The King, however, still retained the right of declaring peace and war and the power of prolonging and summoning the Chamber.
Milan's Austria views did not suit the Radicals and they demanded a further amendment of the constitution permitting the Chamber to vote independently of the royal pleasure, and vesting the representatives of the people with the power of declaring peace and war. There was not the least chance of the Revision Committee advising such a sudden and revolutionary change, but unfortunately for Austria Milan's difficulties with his wife
caused him to be regarded by his subjects
with a sentiment of
very ill-disguised
contempt. Consequently, at the recent election the Radicals
were returned with a fair working majority.
Milan would have abdicated then, but for the want of sufficient means to support something approaching royal state in private life.

MILAN'S ABDICATION.
But the King was poor and dare not ask the Serbian people for a substantial retiring allowance, so he chose the only alternative and brooked under to the Radicals. The revised constitution was then subjected to a further revision on Radical lines and the situation temporarily patched up. Finally, this week, Grulich and Ristic concluded to grant Milan
an allowance out of the State Treasury, so that he might leave the country, as a long stay would provoke disturbances throughout Serbia and precipitate action on the part of both Russia and Austria, by compelling both powers to support their own party in Serbia.

THE KING-MAKER OF BULGARIA.
The political outlook in Bulgaria is also about as bleak as possible. The relations between M. Stambouloff, the Prime Minister, and Prince Ferdinand have become so strained that either the one or the other must go and either event would be favorable to Russian interests in the Balkans. Both Stambouloff and the Prince are pro-Austrian politically, but the estrangement lies in the fact that Ferdinand desires
the Minister of War, Col. Mutkoff, removed. The latter, however, is M. Stanbouloff's brother-in-law, of whose vote he is always certain. Prince Ferdinand considers that he is a necessity and maintains the of the Tory Democrats of the country. His opposition, reinforcing the Liberals and expressed at public meetings, will make the Tory town members tremble. The opposition also continues a remorseless caseism of the Ministers about their complicity in the Times case. It is now admitted that the executive officers of the Irish Administration have been acting for the Times as detectives and collectors of evidence.

THE FRUITS OF VICTORY.
While the Times case is dying of shame that it ever had an existence Parnell is reaping the fruits of his signal vindication. Formerly tabooed in "society," he is now sought for and invited everywhere. The British experience has been touched and all seek in every way to honor the man so deeply wronged. The banquet at the Eighty Club was the first public manifestation of this feeling. The proceedings there were all the more earnest and enthusiastic because many Liberals had looked upon Mr. Parnell with doubt. His rehabilitation there could not have been more complete and gratifying. Mr.
Parnell bears his honors modestly and becomes more and more moderate in his speeches with regard to his demands for Ireland. He has terms of denunciation only for Balfour. He is using his victory well. It is colossal and overwhelming.

As soon as the commission makes its report, the subject of the Parnell inquiry will be brought before Parliament, especially that feature of it which implicates the Government. It is hardly likely that the court will be willing to gratify the popular desire by making an interim report, as it will be some time yet before Parliament will have an opportunity to take the matter up.

he ought to be the actual head of the army, instead of being, as he is, only the nominal one. M. Stancu, however, has a large majority in the Senate, and the Prime Minister declines to accede to the Prince's request. However, the proposition, to which M. Stancu, the King's minister, subjected M. Papad, one of the best Bulgarian officers, and one of the heroes of the Serbian war, has engendered feelings of deep irritation throughout the country against the Premier which may result in his overthrow. If some means of arbitration are not speedily devised for a way out of the difficulty between the Prince and his Minister, the consequences will be very important.

WARRIORS OF THE TRIPLE ALLIANCE.
The present situation in Roumania is similar to that of Serbia. Pro-Russian and anti-Russian lines are so sharply drawn that the pro-Russians, who are in the majority, may at any moment compel King Charles to abdicate, while the state of politics in Hungary also invites Russian ascendancy, and shows the weakness of the triple alliance.

DON'T WANT HUBBARD.
What the French say of Editor Hubbard—Boulogne—Admiral in France.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.

ARIS, March 9.—Since M. A. H. Hubbard's name has been mentioned as the probable Minister here the French papers are giving publicity to the stories of his presence in the United States. He is indicated by his sneering speech last Thursday at the policy of the United States in Nicaragua, openly declared to his friends that he would openly interfere in the Ministry on the question, and should Hubbard's alleged German and Bismarckian sympathies be proven, he would oppose the granting of an executor, unfortunately for Hubbard, Villain is not a man with much influence, though he generally contrives in his way to make a big fuss about small matters.

THE NOBLES FOR BOULANGER.
At an amusing dinner reception given last evening by the Duchess of Dute, the Faubourg St. Germain finally threw in its political fortune with the Boulanger movement, or, as some put it, put up with their own class some. During the reception there was a regular march past in which all the titled dames of the aristocratic quarter took part. The General, who always does the right thing, was much pleased by the march, and he was, charmed everybody by his amiability. Altogether the event was an epoch in the pretender's march to the Presidency or to a throne. It is rather significant that some of the Republican journals, which support the General affect to sneer at his mixing with the dainties of the noble Faubourg.

D'AMAL'S RETURN.
The new Ministry is to be congratulated on its decision to cancel the decree of expulsion against the Duke of Amal. This resolution is subject to vary favorable comments in the lobby of the Chamber and no doubt will create a good impression throughout the country and abroad. Even as a purely political move, the Duke has long been in touch with moderate opinion in France and his reappearance in his native land at this juncture is believed to be a decided gain to the Government.

THE COPPER SYNDICATE.
The copper crisis has brought a new financial principle into play, which will probably be in vogue in America, that is that in securities a threatening widespread financial ruin the banks must stand by one another. It was felt that if the Comptoir d'Escompte stopped payment even for a few hours the worst consequences would ensue. Other banks at the time of the late Emperor Frederick's funeral. It is learned on undoubted authority that the cohesiveness arose from the cavalier-like manner in which the Comptoir treated the Prince of Wales when the latter attempted to fulfill a delicate diplomatic mission to the Prince of Wales, who was entrusted with the mission at the request of the Duchess of Cumberland, whose entreaties were supported by her sisters, the Princess of Wales and the Princess of Wales.

ONLY A HURDLE.
The Financial News says: The articles in American newspapers concerning the desperate attempts of Englishmen to buy American securities amuse the English financial world. They appear to be the result of a combination of certain American and irresponsible company-mongers who are trying to advertise themselves among American syndicates. Their scheme is to obtain such options as they can and then search for a purchaser, thereby securing desirable properties at a low price. The London market until they are unable. All the talk about the English world being engaged in an attempt to form a trust in American securities is such utter nonsense that we are surprised that our American friends are deceived by it. Among the host of names of Englishmen mentioned as representing the syndicate the name of Mr. Lake Bishop appears, but diligent inquiry fails to develop the powerful capital he is said to represent.

FORWARD TO THE POPE.
QUEBEC, March 9.—The protest from the Cardinal, archbishops and bishops of the Province of Quebec against the recent law passed by the Italian Government aimed at the Pope's temporal power was forwarded to the Vatican authorities by yesterday's mail.

A PENNILEN FEE.
Lord Mandeville in the Step of Bankruptcy—His American Wife.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.

ONOND, March 9.—Among the shoal of unfortunate bankruptcies caught fast in the net of bankruptcy this week was a live lord with an American wife. Lord Mandeville's mixed money matters have reached a climax at last, so long as "Mind" was solvent at least pretended to pay his debts some consideration, but now the moral bankruptcy has overtaken the financial one, and in England bankruptcy means banishment. It is said man out from all his clubs and he can only get back again by special consent of the governing board. He is blacklisted and tradesmen won't trust him. His name is struck off the court directory and society follows upon him. The general theory is that his wife and children come equally under the ban of public displeasure.

LADY MANDENVILLE.
In Lady Mandenville's case the matter will make very little difference to her socially or otherwise, except the publicity of it. The beginning of the crisis in Mandenville's affairs was a few weeks ago when a New York letter to the Countess of Devonport was returned marked "funds." It was afterward sent back to a lawyer here for collection. This is understood to be for a large sum of money advanced to him during his last visit to America.

THE SWINE EXPEDITION COMPELLED TO STOP ON ACCOUNT OF THE BRONCH.
Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, March 9.—Karl Peters is in a hurry to get back to his home in the north of Schleswig. He has been in the north of Schleswig for a long time, and he is now in a hurry to get back to his home in the north of Schleswig. He has been in the north of Schleswig for a long time, and he is now in a hurry to get back to his home in the north of Schleswig.

DRAMATIC.
Mrs. Langtry's Future Plans—Sergeant's Post-Dispatch.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.

It looked to-day as though Reinitz, the New York forger, was going to get free again, despite the efforts of the German Legation to obtain extradition. Reinitz has a smart lawyer, who discovered that he was only guilty in the second degree of forgery under the New York laws and as the English law knows no such crime Reinitz felt sure of release. But at the last moment a detective from New York discovered one of the signatures on the blank by Reinitz's employers, but with the signature forged by himself. This decided the Judge to hold him for trial before the extradition Court. It appeared from the evidence that Reinitz had been in the neighborhood of the City of New York for some time before he left New York, his object being to escape service in the German army under the claim that he was an American citizen.

THE BERLIN BUDGET.
The Crown Prince's Drillingmaster Arrested—Changes in Army Officials.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.

BERLIN, March 9.—A tremendous sensation has been created in Berlin by the arrest of the Crown Prince's Drillingmaster, Herr Hank. His company was drawn up in line preparatory to beginning drill exercises when Hank ordered Hank to advance to the front. As he did so he was arrested and hurried away. The cause of his arrest is unknown.

CHAMBERLAIN'S WOOING.
Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, March 9.—A story is now being spread about Mr. Joseph Chamberlain's recent wooing and marriage that may interest American readers. By a romantic coincidence Mr. Chamberlain's son Austin played an important part in his father's marriage with Miss Endicott. The young man had met the lady at Washington the year before Mr. Chamberlain went there, to negotiate the fisheries treaty. On his return he gave such glowing accounts of Miss Endicott that his father determined to meet the Secretary's family, and took an introduction from his son for this purpose.

They appear to be the result of a combination of certain American and irresponsible company-mongers who are trying to advertise themselves among American syndicates.

DID NOT MEET THE GENERAL.
The Prince of Wales had arranged to dine last night with Gen. Gifford, and his own suggestion Boulanger was included among the guests asked to meet his highness. Although it was to be in every sense a private dinner party, the affair somehow got wind, and in consequence of an intimation from the English foreign office the Prince did not meet "Le Brave General." He died quietly with Lord Lytton at the English Embassy.

ONOND, March 9.—The British colonial office has received a dispatch to the effect that Leprosy has put in an appearance in New South Wales, and that the cry for the prohibition of Chinese immigration, which had subsided for the moment, has been again aroused by the popular dread of perhaps the most horrible disease which afflicts humanity. In view of the large number of Chinese of the poorest classes included among the immigrants, the news that some of them have leprosy taint in their blood is not surprising, inasmuch as leprosy prevails more or less in many parts of China, but especially in the districts around the great ports of Canton and Foo Cheu.

FOREIGN EPIDEMICS IN CHINA.
The medical reports of the Foreign Customs enter frequently to the subject. It is said that few great epidemics have been recorded since the fifteenth century. It is spreading now to districts which were previously comparatively from London, dated in September. Since then nothing has been heard from him. This letter was dated at Port Moresby, the northernmost boundary, and said London was about to start for Hong Kong, which he did to reach before the Yangtze River became ice-bound and continue his journey by water. If caught in the ice he said he would not be able to get away from Rampart Village until June. This fact probably befell him.

LADY MANDENVILLE.
In Lady Mandenville's case the matter will make very little difference to her socially or otherwise, except the publicity of it. The beginning of the crisis in Mandenville's affairs was a few weeks ago when a New York letter to the Countess of Devonport was returned marked "funds." It was afterward sent back to a lawyer here for collection. This is understood to be for a large sum of money advanced to him during his last visit to America.

MURDER OF MILLIONAIRE SHELL BELIEVED TO BE LOCATED.

Newspaper Sleuth Picks Up a Thread in the Capture of the Criminal—Tascott and a Pal Who Has Disappeared—Interests in the Case Revived.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 9.

A LITTLE over two days ago a former acquaintance of Tascott, one who had been at one time on intimate terms with him, called on Chief Hubbard and inquired about the reward of $50,000 for the capture of the supposed murderer of A. J. Shell. The chief replied that he had no information leading to his capture would entitle the giver of the information to the reward, even though he had no hand in it. The subject was again in the affirmative, and the young man thanked him. Later in the day he called again, and asking the chief for a few moments' private conversation, was taken from his private office, where, taking from his pocket

A PACKAGE OF LETTERS, he threw them on the chief's desk and asked him to know the handwriting. The superintendent of police said it looked familiar, and drawing from a pigeon hole a facsimile of a letter, compared it with the writing in the package. As he did so an exclamation of surprise escaped him. The handwriting in both was identical. He then prevented him from examining the package, and the package was taken to the chief's office, where it was found to contain a letter from Tascott to a woman, dated January 2 to February 1. The subject matter related entirely to a business matter, and was written in a very plain, unassuming hand. The young man thinks in prose with more facility than in poetry, at least so Chief Hubbard opined.

THE ONLY MAN TO THE LETTERS, but the owner of the package, after being assured by the chief that the letters had no doubt been written by the author, took them and returned to his room. The man who had sent the letters, and had received the package, was identified as Walter Smith. The date of the letters ranged from January 2 to February 1. ## ANOTHER BIG BUILDING.

A FOURTEEN-STORY STRUCTURE ON OLIVE STREET, EAST OF TENTH.

Capitalists Who Are Well Pleased With Their Investments—Description of the New Building of Meyer Brothers &amp; Co., Vandeventer Place No. 2—Real Estate Sales—The Transfer Recorded Yesterday.

ONE large local property owner has always thought that however St. Louis may become a fourth street and the old business quarter east of it would be sure to hold its own, even though the streets of the city may temporarily be held in check. A monument to the faith of those ideas is soon to be reared upon the northwest corner of Fourth street and Clark avenue.

The accompanying illustration will afford a

Mr. Storm's calculations. It appears that the twenty-one sales of property referred to in the accompanying list, between Third and Fourth streets, and between Olive and Washington streets, were sold at an average of 30 per cent above assessed value. This 30 per cent added to the assessed value would make the market value $2,000,000. From this latter amount Mr. Storm deducts $2,000 for the laboratory building destroyed by fire, and that leaves him $2,000,000 as the net value of the land, the price paid for it by Meyer Bros. to Mr. Richardson.

As stated above, other means for financing the building have been seriously considered and while negotiations for leasing or purchasing extra ground were incomplete, plans have been made to acquire the ground for the new structure would assume. Design and construction of the building is now under study to the interior arrangement of the house, which will doubtless prove to be not only the largest drug establishment in the city but also the most modern and most complete of its kind. The first and second stories of the Broadway front, or westward half of the building, will be occupied by the boiler rooms, the walls surrounding the boiler rooms will be of brick and will be sheathed with iron to more thoroughly resist the effects of fire. The third and fourth stories will be devoted to the retail department, the remaining portion of the building to the east. There will be five stories in all, the first and second stories of each floor, placed as cent upon an investment of $1,000,000. Certainly St. Louis offers a rich field for capital to invest in. Other eight-story buildings, and one of eleven stories in height, are fully as well equipped as the two named, and they are doubtless paying them quite as well.

A FOURTEEN-STORY BUILDING FOR OLIVE STREET, EAST OF TENTH, is now under construction. It is very evident that the directors of the Commercial Building Co. have been well advised of this fact, for they are going to furnish the city with one of the greatest commercial buildings in the country. The gentlemen who have met with such success in their first venture at the south-east corner of Olive and Sixth streets are Chicago men, the officers of the Commercial Building Co., being Charles L. Willoughby, President, Mr. J. Sullivan, Vice-President, Edward Rhodes, Treasurer, Emil Glogau, Secretary, William A. Walsh, J. Foster Rhodes, A. M. Sullivan and John T. Haden.

They were elected Friday for the ensuing year when the Directors was so well pleased with the investment it was fully determined to put up a better building than the one they now have.

Emil Glogau, the Secretary of the company, was seen last evening with reference to the matter. When asked what truth there was in the report that the company were going to build a new building, he said the fact was they were going to erect a fourteen-story building.

Mr. Glogau further said that one of the largest retail drug establishments in New York city had already agreed to lease the basement, first and second story of the new building.

He asked if a location had been secured. Mr. Glogau said yes. He did not want to tell where, but he said it was in the best location in the city.

WITHIN THE MYSTIC PALE

A RESUME OF THE WEEK'S DOINGS AMONG LOCAL FRATERNAL SOCIETIES.

Tuscan Lodge's Palatial Quarters—Commercial Council's R. B. Young, Party Lawyer in One Council—Social Features Pre-eminently—Wonderful Growth of the C. K. of A.—Dignitaries Haggling for a Grand Car—Trite Personals Heard in the Anterooms.

Some of the members of the American Legion of Honor, who claim to have some knowledge of the laws governing legislative bodies, want to know how a person not a representative was elected an officer of the Grand Council.

John A. Sloan, on his way to work, will start on Monday night visit each order, both Masonic and others, with cigars, and distribute them among his friends. It is said he has bought $5,000.

That has become of R. Gallagher? There is some talk of his being in training for the pugilistic match with Harris. Others say he has died.

Lyman F. Harding, Jr., the newly elected grand officer, is out with a banner, "On With the Cause."

Lafayette McQuay, a Marquette is a stern old practitioner, but once in the fold his face brightens and he says "On with the cause and let joy be unconfined."

Lafayette is booming. Two candidates have pledged themselves for the near future. The quarterly dues collected are $1,000.

The last final hop will be given at the West End on March 11.

Myrtle Council is going to organize a baseball club and will play the first game on the 15th of the month.

The banquet given to the grand officers by the Blackstone Council was a success. There are, however, some ugly rumors that the charges to be brought against some members.

Commander Oberbeck was seen and stated that he remembered the party was a success. He was not responsible for what was said by his companions. He said he was invited to an invitation to all companions to visit his council and see how they go through the regular routine.

John J. Griffin lost his elevated railroad bill, but still comes to Marquette to be vice boss.

The Hibernian Legion is booming throughout the city. Initiation day was held on the 15th and the sick benefit plan has made additional income to join.

Local Legend of Honor.

St. Louis Council, No. 6, met in regular session on Thursday night last.

Chancellor John Light began the evening with a report on the 15th of March. The attendance was unusually large, and hence was of unusual interest.

Chancellor Light reported that the members of Council No. 6 never will realize their loss of the 15th of March, and thereby absent themselves so often throughout the year.

The Palatial Council Chamber in the West End.

Among the lodge rooms and council chambers in St. Louis Tuscan Hall occupies one of the first positions.

The hall occupies the entire third floor and is the property of Tuscan Lodge, 300, A. F. and A. M.

Within the last year the interior was redecorated and recarpeted. Over each window a stained-glass transom was installed, which not only furnished excellent ventilation, but added to the general effect of the hall.

In the course of improvement a banquet hall was built in the rear of the main hall, and a large dining room was added to the rear of the main hall.

The lodge room and the dining room are now the property of Tuscan Lodge, 300, A. F. and A. M.
